We're All In This Together

Phil Condit once stated, "None of us is as smart as all of us." Working together on a day to day basis teaches us to work as one. It also allows us to become smarter and more efficient than if we were alone. This is relevant in everyday life as in school, family, and corporations. Being solo does not mean that one cannot achieve what a group does, but being part of a team allows one to be more successful and overcome more obstacles.

— Tres Barrera
Co-editor

"I always wanted to be somebody. If I made it, it's half because I was game enough to take a lot of punishment along the way and half because there were a lot of people who cared enough to help me," explained Althea Gibson. Few people can honestly claim that they have been able to make it to the top on their own. A mark of a truly successful person is one who never forgets where he came from and all those who helped him along the way, including family, teachers, and friends. This is why we have chosen this theme for our yearbook — "We Are All In This Together."
